Emotional Reflection

Since being incarcerated, I've found that creating art is a wonderful way to express my emotions and how I feel about certain thoughts presented by society. No matter what a person has or hasn't done in their lives, we're still people. Hopefully my artwork motivates and inspires someone. If something reaches you on a different level, maybe you're meant to have it. Peace and prosperity sent to who-ever may be reading this. May your day be blessed.
