

Artist Name: Ghost One

This year I am submitting a painting I did titled "Those Lion Eyes". It represents how people pretend to be strong in the midst of chaos and in reality they are just staring at you with lying (Lion Eyes), because we all as humans, no matter how strong we pretend to be, are vulnerable to the woes of what life can throw at us. I chose to use a burnished copper in the eyes instead of Gold, decreasing the value of strength and making the lion softer around the edges and bringing to it more normalcy. As for the style, I chose it because it's chaotic and goes against the rules of painting and shows that I as an artist know nothing in the grand scheme of things. I just have fun creating.
