Clowns creep me out. Clowns creep a lot of people out. I was taken to a Circus once as a small child, and I was really having fun until a clown came up to me. I screamed and started crying while the clown dumbly ~~he~~ tried to soothe me with funny faces and balloon animals, until my parents finally shoed him away. It is fear. Fear that the clown "Pennywise" represents. It is our most primal emotion. All of Humanity's problems spring from Fear; Fear of the Unknown, Fear of other people who look different, who act different, who adhere to different values, etc etc.

This was only my 2nd ~~colored~~ colored pencil drawing, as I usually only do Graphite portraits, but I quite enjoyed working with colored pencil, and hope to do more. I think I did a good job of it, especially with the "Blending" to make it look more paint-like.

I would like to branch out into more Abstract and Surreal art work in the future as I endeavor to express my self more fully. I have only been drawing for 2 years, and not constantly either.
