

Artist Name: Chantry Rice

I see my art as the opportunity to create light ~~out of~~ inside this dark place. It returns to me one ray of freedom.

I feel joy, contentment and satisfaction when I create something new that can be shared. I enjoy seeing what others create as well, and I hope my art can give joy, interest, enjoyment, and sometimes humor.

I've done drawings, designs and various artistic creations in the past, but it has been a while. I'm just starting to get back into it and I find I don't have a set direction yet. Small projects give me purpose and enjoyment, but I want to continue exploring and trying new things until I'm able to find my current style and focus. Something that I can look at with pride and that will reflect something about me.
