

Artist Name: Stacey Anderson

I love to draw from my imagination, being creative brings calm thoughts to my mind. It's comforting. I enjoy exploring with different types of art materials. When I draw I lose myself into my work it's peaceful. My first one is called "Imagine" because you can look at it and imagine whatever you like. My second one is called "Orbits" while painting I was thinking about space and how it looked to me. My third one is called "Snowflakes" watching snowflakes fall is very amazing, different colors sitting in your window watching the snow is peaceful, takes your mind different places.
