Well it's that time again where I get to share my art pieces with everyone. This year I focused on colors that pop. A colorful painting can bring a lot of joy into a room. My main objective with my paintings is to give the viewer overall happiness, excitement, and satisfaction. I have a lot of happiness within and I enjoy sharing it with others through my paintings. I tried some new stuff this year such as glow in the dark paint and I even used one of my shoes which was rather interesting. Overall I enjoyed doing this years pieces and I am already looking forward to the 31st exhibit. I hope everyone enjoys my work as much as I enjoy doing it.
