When we're in the middle of what looks like a no-way-out clamity, the idea that "Stability" could one day result from our suffering can seem impossible... I wonder?? Sometimes, we need to slow down, to recognize the "creative work" taking place in the deepest darkness when "severed," that people could imagine, in some ways, brings peace and joy. That reality invites my "Stoic" memento to — life — Pressed Flowers + PCAP = Restoration — thanks!
