

Artist Statement: 27th Annual Exhibition of Artists in Michigan Prisons

Artist Name: HARRISON RADER

I began painting in August of this year as a means to deal with the stress of being in prison, and because I needed something productive to do with my time. I have found that telling stories through painting pictures is the best form of therapy I have ever encountered. Painting has helped me to become more patient and open minded, as well as less anxious - great way to clear my mind.
