"The Gateway" was inspired by the movie Insidious: The Red Door. I chose to do this painting because as inmates, prisoners or the incarcerated, whatever society chooses to call us. We are always viewed as criminals and often labeled as menace to our community. We are often misread, misunderstood and misappropriated no matter how many doors we walk through or choose to open. We ~~are~~^{all} treated as cold and as dark as the background of our past while trying to enter another gateway of existence.
