

Artist Name: Holly Hibbler

I was born to two loving and supportive parents in the town of Petoskey Michigan in the year 1981. Growing up I struggled with depression and never understood what was wrong with me. As an adult I still struggle and paint to relax me. I listen to contemporary music while I do relax and paint.

My joy comes from showing the beauty of my gift through my art. I express what I see in this horrible world through my chosen pieces of art. As a struggling artist who is in prison with just pennies earned a day in our economy you can see how hard that is. So why not try once a year to make a fine piece of art for more than just pennies.

I hope you find the beauty in my art selections that I do. I do not share the same taste in as they say in making my art but about the world outside these ugly walls.

Sincerely,
Holly Hibbler
