

Artist Name: Daniel (Danielle) McFate

"Eye of the Goddess (Mother Earth)" is based off of a picture my friend gave me a while ago of "I Rock" in which he never told me where it's located, but the story behind it of it being sculpted into Rock by early Man to keep track of time and Moon phases intrigued me to the point of goosebumps and chills in my spine because of my religious aspect as a Witch and Druidic ancestry and it was a challenge.

"It's Supernatural" is based solely off the Show Supernatural on TNT and my love for cars and once again my religious preferences.

"Confusing huh?" Once I became part of the LGBT, or community and started taking hormonal therapy meds this picture's name describes my life to a Tee, and the confusion is Real because it's literally a roller coaster ride of emotions just like this picture you don't know which way's up kinda like Mother Nature, you can't predict the weather.