

Artist Statement: 27th Annual Exhibition of Artists in Michigan Prisons

Artist Name: Christopher (CHRISTOPHER S.)

When I start a piece of art, I start with a concept; then let the creativity flow. Torn Perfection; I started with the tear right down the middle; to represent how we are all torn in some place, at some time in our life. The number seven represents perfection, and how even though we are torn, we are perfectly just the way we should be. There are seven different patterns tying the pieces piece together. The green background represents life, and the four corners represent the four elements.

In circles upon circles I tried my hand at sacred geometry. Five representing grace; there is a graceful yet ~~the~~ elegant flow to the piece. ^{Meant} ~~Meant~~ to represent togetherness with the different classes; even though they are different, without one of them the Art would not be complete, or whole!
