

Artist Name: Kevin Berry

This has been a roller coaster of a year, and whatever pieces the curators choose is going to reflect that. My mom fighting her stage 4 cancer, going through college, and still attempting to discover who I am, has my emotions either too drained or overflowing. Thankfully I have art as a healthy outlet and is something I really enjoy sharing with others. I hope you enjoy these works and are able to see myself, and maybe a little bit of yourself, within them. Thank you for taking the time to read this and I look forward to creating more pieces for you all next year.

Keep Your Head Up
&
Your Heart Strong

Kevin
Berry