

Artist Name: Dayon Bledsoe

I love the purpose of creating my thoughts, my views of what art is. To me I like seeing my thoughts come to life. To be a creator of art is how I envision God did with the world, making it a reality. Drawing helps my mind open up and takes me to another world especially in a place like this. It helps me to express myself in ways words can't. It helps me to express my versions of what I see beauty as. I also like for my art to make a person think to ask themselves what was on this person's mind when they drew this.
