

Artist Name: Thomas Sells III

This piece expresses my LGBT Pride that is still young and still blossoming. The way I painted it was to look like a young person painted it because I'm still "young" in coming out to others. The flower is because we all slowly blossom into someone better every day.