Paw Fest

This piece is called Paw Fest. I am in the Dawgz Adapt dog program at the Alger C/F and the puppy in this painting is a puppy named Max that I had. He was just as goofy and wild at heart as portrayed here and yet the calmest dog in the room. Max was sold from a puppy mill in a parking lot, then past around 3 different foster homes. Surrendered to our shelter where he found his way to us.. Max is the 6th dog I've had here. We are a rescue program. We are saving, training and preparing each dog for their forever homes one dog at a time.

I invite each and every person to go to our facebook website Dawgz Adapt to see Max and all the other dogs that we have saved and to become part of the Dawgz Adapt family in rescuing and saving these lives.

This is my 3rd painting that I have done and I am excited to see what God will bring forth from here on out through me and this program.
