I am choosing to make art for my business. I am going to create my own comic book industry. The Art I am submitting are three characters that are in my comics. They are just three of eighteen of the group I call "The Time Warriors." My creative process just starts by listening to music that will help enhance the flow of creative ideas. The style of anime that I chose to draw my characters is unique for an American creator. I have been reading manga & watching anime at a very young age and in fact, I still do! I love everything about the style of the Japanese art. The colors of the characters I just thought about what type of personality this character would have and chose the specific colors on that ideal. I hope others will understand that my characters whether Hero or Villain, are made up of just everyday people w/ everyday jobs. I also hope that by showing my characters they can better understand myself as a person & my views on the world.
