

Artist Name: Robert Matlock -

I like observing peoples expressions when they look at my art. I like being creative especially when I'm by myself. I enjoy drawing in pencil and the scratch art is challenging and very exact. My artwork is personal to me. Each piece is special - I draw what makes me feel something. The Wre piece goes back to when I was younger and being able to relate to and all black cast. The Phoenix piece was inspired from the Harry Potter movies when the Phoenix performed miracles. The last scratch art was a playful attempt to create something different.

I draw to stay focused and not let incarceration dominate my free time. I'm also in the process of creating comic strips/books and hope to exhibit them in the near future.

It's important to hold fast to your dreams and aspirations. Remember to click your heels three times.
