Baby Set

I consider Crochet a form of art, as well as a Natural treatment for stress, depression and anxiety. Art, because I can create pieces of clothes with my hand which are unique. This art'll always keep me closed to my families, because the clothes I'm making for them will warm up their hearts.

A natural treatment for stress, depression and anxiety, because when I'm crocheting there is not room in my mind for anything but for concentration on the piece of art I'm creating. 90% of my creations are made without a pattern, but directly from my mind to crochet's hook.

Crochet is a sign language I learned, so I can always tell my families I love you.

This pieces of art is dedicated to my great-granddaughter Mercy Ruth Kurzer, from Grandpa's heart!
