

Artist Name: Jason Cumming (ndoc # 271429)

When I think of "Art", I equate that word to what is truly "freedom" - my escape from life's painful realities. Freedom to feel peace, tranquility, one with the universe and my soul's true expression. The only thing that allows the blood to circulate and flow within me. While I despise the word "Goodbye" for it implies finality, it is at this time where I finally bid my farewell to submitting artwork. At this moment, I need to focus more on defeating injustice and obtaining my freedom back again: Obtaining my breath back from the hands of this wrongful conviction. Once I achieve that resurrection - only then will my art once again have life.

Full proceeds from any sale of my artwork are being donated to St. Judes Childrens Research Hospital. I did this for them, not me.
