

Artist Statement: 27th Annual Exhibition of Artists in Michigan Prisons

Artist Name: Kevin L. Smith

I've been drawing from a young age. It's something that keeps me in a peaceful place. My work here is a tiger surrounded by roses. Why is the lion considered the king of the jungle when he's never been there? Tigers are beautiful they are art. Roses are beautiful in come in many colors just like a tiger. I like to express my feelings in my artwork because it helps me with my mental state. People ask how am i able to make my work look so real and my answer is that i draw what i see.
