

Artist Name: Timothy Fultz

I like to paint when I need to calm myself. Have been trying to do different techniques the last year to find my "niche". Tend to prefer Acrylic, but do use a bit of watercolor as well. Find it is a great way to travel mentally outside the prison walls, at least for the moment.

Lost a lot of materials a couple months ago so have had to stop painting until I can recoup supplies. Soon as I do I hope to continue learning/trying different things as it is definitely meditative for me.
