Hello!

Ever since I was young art was a spark of interest. Especially when it comes to creating model figures and landscapes... Creating a piece of art for me, I feel like it helps relieve my mind from having too many ideas by putting them either on paper or sculpting an idea into a figure... So I hope when people view my pieces.. That they can see what can be created with the most limited amount of tools we have access to....

Each model figure that is created probably takes around two to three months to finish up... Since almost every part had at least three or four different designs I created before choosing the one to add... And the many pieces down to a millimeter in size...

For landscapes I have an interest in more of the traditional Asian landscapes, but I also enjoy some urban or current styles as well...

Thank you!
And Enjoy!
