Zen Lemur, No Evil Sugar Skulls

I use art as a way to express and challenge myself. I also find so much joy in putting paint to canvas and creating one of a kind crochet pieces.

However, ~~the biggest part of my~~ ~~and~~ the most important part of me creating art work now is making something that will make my family proud.

I want my family to be proud of the woman I've become even though

I've been through terrible situations and I'm stuck in this place. I want them to be proud of me.

"Zen Lemur" is a painting done for Buzz. I know he would have loved this little guy.
