Ask Yourself

What are you looking for?

Can you see?

Oh you want the best right!

What will that be?

Are you prepared to receive that which you desire?

Would you be mad when life tests you and call you higher?

Pulling you closer to the things you really seek!

Have you analyzed yourself lately?

Questioning your every move!

Your every thought!

Being careful of the words you articulate!

Have you found yourself?

What is your true self?

Have you ever lost yourself?

In order to regain yourself in the most authentic way?

Do you understand that your future starts here today?

This is a new beginning, a new start.

Ask yourself, are you ready?

If not this is your time to get ready.

Are you scared to obtain the things you once saw?

Your vision, goals, and dreams!

Is so move forward, let go.

Eradicate every negative emotion holding you back,

Separate yourself from those people, places, and things, that's stagnate.

Think about what you really want, be confident and your mind will attract it.

How's that you say?

Well that's the law of attraction, gravitating those things to you which you secretly desire.

Ask yourself are you a quitter or are you a fighter?

When adversity come your way fight harder?

When it's easy to give up or give in think smarter.

Anything worth having you should work for it, as well as be patient.

Ask yourself if quick fixes last long?

Or do they satisfy your immediate needs then pass on!
