

Artist Name: Steve McLoy

I find it (my artwork), in the shade a little on the dark side, this could be that I am in prison or I can't see the lightness in my brain. What ever it is I'll keep on working through this and try to bring more brightness into my paintings, but this still puzzles me when I start a painting, thoe my referance is every much in the spectrum of light, they seem to come out on the dark side, and yes being incarcerated has pulled some darkness over my eyes and it doesn't help when all those who I care about has passed on or those who gave up on me. Noless, this is the hardest time in ones life being away from love ones.
