

Artist Name: Roy Holmes

Preparing for this years PCAP Has been Challenging. I Have Enormous amounts of creative vision and I have acquired a vast amount of Art materials and supplies. However the Challenge has been time management, With a totally of 12 College related classes per week, providing around the clock care and training for my current Blue star service Dog Cadet "Raine". Along with additional groups, classes and working to complete my application for Commutation. Some how I was able to produce my Main piece of Art for this years exhibit titled "STRANGELY ENCHANTED". A 18"x24" mixture of thoughts, ideals and visions using a mixture of mediums, From water colors to Acrylic to ink, Color pencils and pastels. I am very excited to finally get my Art submitted and displayed, Eagerly looking forward to the selection Date and grateful for the opportunity.
