

Artist Name:

Joseph Momyly Jr.

I hope when others look at my art work they will smile, and for those minutes or seconds the warmth ~~creating~~ I felt while creating and praying that if they sold, the money will help get a cure, that one day I know God will make that cure that will help the children.

all over the world, anything I can do to help make a better America and world, whatever life God give me that is my journey, every little bit does help, and I want to dedicate my life to helping others, and thankful I have been given the health to be able to help, even if its only a little bit, a little bit can sometimes go along way, but I also want to thank you Emily Chase, and all the members of "PCAP" for all the good you do for prisoners and the community

Thank you
