"I Am What I Am" represents me and is my thought about myself. In this piece of art, you can choose between two major aspects that represent ~~who~~ who I am. The platypus is me, wierd. Its a different animal all together, doesn't really fit into any major group. Then the tardigrade is another odd creature but represents my resilient side. I, like the tardigrade, just keep going no matter what is thrown at me. I left imperfections in the work because no one is perfect.
