

Artist Name: Jerry Ulrich

i write unique poems and phrases to try and put a smile to a face or maybe give a person something to think on, possibly even relate on a personal level. Being incarcerated and away from the ones we love is hard and at times stressing and something as simple as a pen and a few words on a piece of paper gives me the ability to express myself to others the feelings that not only i have but possibly others in this situation we live in.

I speak of family because connecting and possibly re-connecting with loved ones is a large part of not only support but also a way to re-establish relationships we may have lost or harmed in our life path. One letter at a time.
