PCAP Miniatures 2021 Exhibit

Artist Name: James Mitchell

I started this project with a handful of craft sticks and a sheet of felt I bought off of another inmate with no idea as to what I would create. While playing with one of the craft sticks waiting for inspiration to strike I started beading it and came up with an idea for a bow. Once I had the idea I ~~soaked~~ soaked the sticks in water and from there worked them into a bow. Well a bow needs arrows and it kind of went from there I have never worked with these items before but overall am pleased I had to produce my own glue as well other than ^{the} felt and craft sticks all other materials are repurposed from found items in my cell including the glue. I hope you enjoy I tried to make all pieces of this set functional where possible but know they are not intended for actual use ☺
