Our Hunting Camp in the U.P.

Until recently, I've only drawn for leisure and have sent most of my artwork home. For the past few months, I have taken my art more seriously.

I am an avid outdoorsman and have normally drawn landscapes geared toward hunting and fishing scenes usually incorporating animals in my drawings.

I am now doing portraits for fellow inmates as a way to make some extra money. I have also done portraits of automobiles and motorcycles. I spend as many hours a week as possible drawing and painting, not just for a hustle now, but to hone my skills as a possible source of income after my release.

To tell the truth, I am having a blast because I love what I am doing. I have a supportive family but it is important to me to be able to support myself now and in the future. Portraits anyone? I am a believing Christian and hope to reflect this in future artwork.
