I started drawing in a high school Art class. But I didn't really take to Art until I became incarcerated. I realized that art is my escape. I am no longer imprisoned, I am just free. My personal favorite art to make is colorful and bright. I also have noticed that when I draw I focus and as a child or even growing up struggling with ADHD I couldn't ever sit still or focus on anything. So in saying that I am appreciative of what art does for me and the talent I have in it.
