Sunset After an Imaginary Mesa, Redeemer #3

~~to~~ to draw, to paint, to make art:
letting inspiration take hold,
having ~~the~~ the creativity flow, getting in "the zone" - is close to feeling like a regular human being, not just a convict or a number.
Maybe, for me, it's a form of escape, because I draw and paint things I want to see - not the things I do see.
maybe it's a way to cope with my circumstances.
maybe it's an attempt to communicate my feelings.
or probably all of these.
I am a very visual person and sharing my vision is a treasure.
