

Artist Name: Nestor Gomez

I choose to do art because it give me a chance to create a moment of joy in someones life. So I am always looking for the next project to let someone know they are thought of and appreciated. The one thing that gets to me is the ideas that come and go and not enough time to do all the stuff that I come across. When it comes to the materials I use I am all over the place. Being a lifer I tend to hoard supplies so I am currently working on my stock pile. They discontinued my scratch art materials and what they have is smaller and twice the work. So once the canvas and paints run out I will try my hand at water colors. Still my passion is making cards so I will get back to that next year once I can buy supplies again. I enjoy portraits and I have met some people that should be drawn. Though I stay real busy with my art it has never become work unless you think having fun is work
