Social Distortion

My drawings have evolved from copy drawing to original drawings.

I was inspired a few years ago during another PCAP event when one of my drawings was selected and out of the handful

I brought to be looked at, that I believed far better were over looked for my one and only original drawing and it amazed me that that drawing out of the lot was the one that drew the attention of others since then that's all I do and am currently working on a book of Tattoo Flash that is going to try and get published. ^{with me luck!} ~~which~~
