I chose to use an Octopus with its 8 Tentacles to represent the insatiable greed of global consumerism, while the double-edge knife hints at the danger of greed itself. And I also just think Octopus are cool as hell.

This was my first time working with these materials and my first sculpture, so there was a considerable learning curve. But I thoroughly enjoyed the process and gained a substantial amount of knowledge and confidence along the way. I'm looking forward to my next project and will continue to experiment and expand my artistic vision through future sculptures.
