Remember. Our pride and our ability to Love who we Love is a gift, A gift that has come a long way. It is a gift that isn't store bought, but crafted-forged in blood and sacrifice by those who fought for the rights we enjoy today. Our Pride ~~isn't~~ has always existed, it isn't as black and white as it once was, and that's a good thing. We have expanded our rainbow to include many Identities, and gifted each other with Love, Support, Celebration, and parades.

However, our pride is still threatened by bias and prejudice of others. So we must remember, this gift is one we must continue to fight for, so it may be gifted to future generations. This gift is not only Love, but determination, not only Support, but Action, not only Celebrations, but demonstrations, not only Parades, but Protest

With this in mind, my Piece (with the help of Photos from the book "PRIDE - 50 years of Parades and Protest - From the Photo Archives of the New York Times") shows our living history, Our Primal instinct to Sit with our Pride, and Our emergence from Black and white to the full multicolored beauty of our rainbow. Remember.
