I'm glad to have you guys along with me on my journey to become a better painter & artist. A guy you know named Martin Vargas inspired me to use oils and helped to get me in the right direction with sound advice to "paint what I like, not what people want." I took that as just cause you can sell stuff others like doesn't mean you'll have fun doing it. So, I only paint what is fun, regardless of what the subject matter is. With these pieces, a lot had to do with the color palette I had to utilize as I am still teaching myself as much as I can. I hope you enjoy! Thank you!
