

Artist Statement: 27th Annual Exhibition of Artists in Michigan Prisons

Artist Name:

Roberto D'Alvango

Diversity in style, in other words the wide variety of materials, is one of the most important aspects in my artwork. I try to dive deeply into myself and seek my root, my inner self. I consider relationships between the world and myself through art. Advertising seems to be all around us, even in a prison setting. This is what I'm trying to represent in this series of pieces. I guess the basis of my work is synthesizing and uniting opposing elements, that is, macro versus micro, social versus personal. I try to incorporate multi-dimensional issues into one artwork.
