

Artist Name: Kenneth Kucken "Once Eye Saw"

I close my eyes and see... A sea of black, white and gray swirling static... Colors explode here and there... Shapes come and go... Sometimes before I know what they are... Eyes open; at times still in the dream stance... Brush/Pencils... One line can alter the frequency modulation and connect to the "logos" or the "All" the "Universal Everything" I enjoy the rays of the sun through smoke and nature... There is music in the wind... All possible observations... What vibration does your stenna/sensory organs tune in to and how functional is your processor/brain ??? ↔ Clogged with bias and programming or open to what is there??? Gold for the observant... I also like to work with stones and metal... Silver is a friend of mine... Circles know everything... Chase the storm to watch the lightening have and light
