

Artist Name: HARRISON RADER

Creating art calms my soul and centers me perfectly, which I find odd because all my art is abstract! Putting paint on any medium allows me to focus on right now as opposed to my many mistakes or the obstacles in store for me in the future, when I am painting I am making the most of my present. The process of creating art has helped to reframe my perspective regarding my lengthy incarceration and given me hope regarding what tomorrow may bring.

I am very grateful for PCAP as well as everyone who has been touched in some way by my creations, which I am absolutely enthused about making and sharing with those who enjoy seeing it.

Respectfully Submitted
