

Artist Name: Jefferson "Smitty" II

I've always appreciated art but never had the time to focus on it growing up. I dabbled in sculptors and woodworking in my free time but never pursued it. Being in prison I had to learn to focus my mind and skills into something productive and for nine years now I have stayed steady in my passion for art. I've tried it all but my love will always be making minuscatures and painting. My skill isn't at the same level as most of these artists talent so I try to put my own personal touch to them to make them unique and enjoyable. If I can get one person to say "wow that's cool!" or "How did he do that?" then I'm happy and it was worth the work. All of my work is always dedicated to my mother because she has always supported me whether my art was good or bad. It's thanks to her that I've stuck with it and now art has become a part of my soul. So thank you for taking a peek and hopefully my work can ~~inspire~~ inspire other people that weren't born with talent, but make their own thru hard work and discipline.
