

Artist Name: Jimmie Reese

Throughout my years of creating art, I never attended any art classes, I learned to create art in my own style. I recently began using meditation to tap into the subconscious depths of my mind to bring forth my artistic creative talents. My works often show a unique technique which most people cannot associate with any particular style. My colored pencil style, with its blend of layering and burnishing, allows my works to appear diffused and vibrant, whereas, my acrylic works tend to be subdued and vibrant. I hope that everyone that views my works feel the same emotions that I did when creating them. Look for me in the future.
