

Adam Starkey #670923

228-20

Better Times

I started to paint To free my mind of all the negative things I've been through. I Have a very low self of Steam, I also feel like a failure at most things I Try at. Art is one thing there is no fail or pass it comes down to if someone other then you sees and likes what you are trying to say through your Brush. I Just lost my mother in June to a Heart Attack. She was my rock my world and Biggest fan. I want to Keep Painting To feel that we are still close. To any who reads this thank you for taking time To look into the life of a prisoner and see some good that is still in all of us.